Director of the Office of the Allegheny County Public Defender
March 2012 – June 2019

Allegheny County Public Defender Office
542 Forbes Avenue 4th Floor
Pittsburgh, PA 15219

In March 2012, the Allegheny County Executive, Richard Fitzgerald, appointed me to become the Director of the Office of the Public Defender of Allegheny County. The Public Defender's Office is responsible of providing competent, effective legal representation to any person that lacks sufficient funds to obtain legal counsel in proceedings where an individual's life or liberty is at stake. As the Director of the Office of the Public Defender, I was responsible for the oversight of an annual budget of $10.3 million dollars as well as the management of over 120 employees, including nearly ninety attorneys. I was responsible for implementing practice standards, policies and procedures and ensuring that there was proper training for all of the employees. Additionally, the responsibilities of my position required me to work collectively with various stakeholders in the Criminal Justice System.

b) Whether you practiced alone and, if so, the addresses and the dates:

My law office was located at 428 Forbes Avenue, Suite 1800, Pittsburgh, PA 15219. Although I practiced alone, I shared office space with Turahn Jenkins, Esquire, and Frank Walker, Esquire.

c) The dates, names and addresses of law firms or offices, companies or governmental agencies with which you have been connected and the nature of your connection with each:

September 1998 thru September 1999- I worked as a Judicial Law Clerk for the Honorable Justin M. Johnson of the Pennsylvania Superior Court, located at 310 Grant Street, Suite 1700, Pittsburgh, PA 15219.

September 1999 thru October 1999- I worked as a law clerk for the Law Offices of Peter Georgiades, located at 3600 Gulf Tower, 707 Grant Street, Pittsburgh, PA 15219.

July 2000 thru June 2005- I worked as an Assistant District Attorney in the Allegheny County District Attorney's Office, located in the Allegheny County Courthouse, 436 Grant Street, Room 400, Pittsburgh, PA 15219.

March 2012 thru June 2019- I was the Director of the Allegheny County Public Defender's Office, located at 542 Forbes Avenue, 4th Floor, Pittsburgh, PA 15219.

d) Any other relevant particulars:

My employment as the Director of the Public Defender's Office was a significant achievement in my legal career. I was the first African American in the history of Allegheny County and the first African American male in the history of Pennsylvania to become the director of a Public Defender's Office. Furthermore, when I was appointed to serve as the Public Defender, the ACLU was threatening to file another lawsuit against Allegheny County and the Public Defender's Office. The ACLU alleged that the Public Defender's Office violated the civil rights of its clients due to ineffective legal representation, including the failure of some attorneys to meet with clients prior to trial or to prepare properly for trial. Moreover, many of those clients spent inordinate periods of time in jail. In some instances, clients were forced to plead guilty simply to get out of jail despite the fact that they had viable defenses to their charges. The office failed to provide training for the attorneys or support staff. Due to budgetary constraints, there was an inadequate number of attorneys employed in the office resulting in excessive caseloads and high turnover.

Through the County Executive's support, I obtained a significant budget increase for the office. The added resources enabled the office to hire additional attorneys and create seven additional managerial positions. Furthermore, we became the second office in Pennsylvania to hire a full time Manager of Training to assist with developing performance standards, for the attorneys and provide ongoing mandatory training for the entire office. Consequently, attorneys were required to meet regularly with their clients and participate in case reviews as a method of supervision. I also established a recruiting program to attract more qualified attorneys. In turn, the attorneys' caseloads were drastically reduced, and the overall quality of client representation improved tremendously.

Additionally, I developed a Pretrial Division, which requested bail modifications on behalf of clients of the office. As a result of those efforts, the Public Defender's Office consistently filed approximately 100 motions to modify bail each month with an 80% success rate. Consequently, we were able to get approximately 80 clients out of jail each month, preventing them from languishing in jail for an average of 6-8 months for low level nonviolent offenses due to their inability to post nominal bonds. These efforts enabled individuals to return to their families and jobs and also resulted in significant taxpayer savings. Also, for the first time in the history of the Public Defender's Office, we began representing clients during Preliminary Arraignments, when bond is initially set. We hired full time Social Workers to work with the preliminary arraignment attorneys to identify resources for the clients and get the clients involved in drug and alcohol treatment, and mental health counseling. This approach resulted in an 18% reduction in jail admissions by allowing people to obtain the services that they needed instead of being incarcerated. Lastly, we began an expungement program to assist clients with expunging their records following the resolution of their legal matters.

10. a) What was the general character of your practice, dividing it into periods with dates if its character changed over the years?

I started my law practice in June 2005, and during that time I primarily represented clients in criminal court proceedings. I represented clients in nonjury trials and jury trials for a multitude of offenses including low level offenses, traffic violations up to and including more serious offenses like homicides. In 2007 I began representing clients in personal injury cases. Typically, I was able to negotiate settlements on behalf of my clients and I never had the opportunity to try any cases in civil court. Shortly thereafter in 2008, I began representing clients in Federal Court. During that time, I represented a number of clients in criminal matters involving multi-level narcotics offenses. Although I have represented clients in family court proceedings involving Protection from Abuse Orders, divorce, contempt, and child support, the general character of my practice was primarily focused on state court criminal matters.

b) Describe your typical clients and mention the areas, if any, in which you concentrated your practice:

In my law practice, I represented clients from different ethnic backgrounds and socioeconomic backgrounds. Similarly, the clients from the Office of the Public Defender were individuals from low income communities with different ethnic backgrounds.

Additionally, I am responsible for conducting guilty pleas and imposing sentences, presiding over jury and nonjury trials, and resolving pretrial motions, as well as suppression motions. Finally, as a judge in the Criminal Division, I also address alleged violations of probation. While it is common practice for Allegheny County Court of Common Pleas Judges to work exclusively in one division, I have opted to resolve my current caseload in the Family Division in order to reduce the likelihood of uncertainty and delay for the litigants.

I have also been the plaintiff in the several landlord/tenant hearings. During the process of closing my law practice, I contracted with a storage company to store my files. The company failed to update its records with my forwarding address and mailed the invoices to my previous address. When I received notice regarding the outstanding invoices, the company had already filed a complaint with the local magistrate. 27. Furnish one (1) example of a legal article, law review article, briefs, or other legal writing which reflects your personal work. If a brief is submitted, indicate the degree to which it represents your personal work:

I have submitted a brief that I previously filed on behalf of my client in a criminal case. My client was accused of possessing a substantial amount of a controlled substance with the intent to distribute. A confidential informant made representations to the police officers regarding his personal observations of controlled substances in my client's home. The officers used the information as a basis to establish probable cause and applied for a search warrant. Although confidential informants typically are not required to appear in court, the court required the confidential informant to testify due to material misrepresentations contained in the warrant. At the conclusion of the hearing, the Judge directed the attorneys to file briefs. While I do not condone my client's decision to possess a controlled substance, as a defense attorney, I did have an obligation to protect his constitutional rights. In this case the evidence was suppressed, the charges were ultimately dismissed, and justice was served. Furthermore, my client completely changed his life, got married, started a family, and has been gainfully employed to this very day. More importantly, he has not been arrested or charged with any crimes since the dismissal of his cases. I submitted this case because I believe as attorneys, we have an obligation to advocate for our clients and protect their constitutional rights even when they may be guilty or have engaged in behaviors that society deems reprehensible.

I am currently a member of the Allegheny County Bar Association, as well as the Family Law Section. In the recent past, I was a member of the Criminal Litigation Section of the Allegheny County Bar Association. From 2011 to 2012, I was a member of the Jail Oversight Board. In 2015, I was appointed by Pennsylvania's Attorney General, Josh Shapiro, to serve on the Justice Reinvestment Initiative, a committee formulated for the purpose of reforming the Criminal Justice System statewide. In 2016, the University of Pittsburgh's Chancellor, Mark Nordenberg, appointed me to serve on the Institute of Politics Committee. Additionally, in 2016, I was appointed to the Criminal Justice Advisory Board of Allegheny County and both of these committees worked collectively to identify methods for improving the Criminal Justice System in Allegheny County.

29. List your experiences in teaching and lecturing, including law school, continuing legal education, both for the legal community and the judiciary, and to non-legal audiences.

I have been employed as an Adjunct Law Professor at Duquesne University's School of Law since 1998. I currently teach a tutoring and mentoring program for first year law students. Additionally, I have assisted with teaching the Public Defender's Clinical Course to second and third year law students, since 2016. In 2012, I was appointed by Senior District Judge Arthur J. Schwab, of the United States District Court for the Western District of Pennsylvania to serve as member of the faculty at the University of Virginia School of Law, Trial Advocacy Program. The Trial Advocacy Program and the Trial College are annual weeklong trial advocacy programs which teach attorneys about the various aspects of trial.

30. List all organizations other than bar associations, professional associations or societies of which you are or have been a member, including civic, charitable, religious, educational, social and fraternal organizations:

I am currently the Vice President of the Board of Directors for Macedonia FACE. Macedonia FACE is a community based social service agency that serves the needs of families in Allegheny County, focusing on housing, and food insecurity, and socioeconomic issues related to health and wellbeing.

31. List any honors, prizes, awards or other forms of recognition which you have received (including any indication of academic distinction in college or law school) other than those mentioned in answers to the foregoing questions.

In 2012, I received the Homer S. Brown Award from the NAACP Pittsburgh Chapter. I also received the 2012 New Pittsburgh Courier Man of Excellence Award, and I received The Legal Intelligencer, 2015 Diverse Attorney of the Year Award.

32. State any other information which may reflect positively or adversely on you or which you believe should be disclosed in connection with consideration of you for an election/retention to a Court of Pennsylvania.

While attending law school, I worked two full time jobs in the social service field. During the day, I provided intensive home-based family therapy and support services to families that were active with Family Court. The families were experiencing varying degrees of dysfunction due to drug addiction and mental health issues. Additionally, I worked overnights and weekends as a residential counselor at the Family Links Independent Living Program. As a residential counselor, I worked directly with troubled adolescents, accepted for treatment within the residential shelter. These positions enabled me to develop an understanding of the issues that typically result in people becoming involved with the court system. I learned firsthand about the impact that the courts have on the lives of people in our communities and these experiences became the foundation for my work in public service.

I began my legal career as a judicial law clerk for the Pennsylvania Superior Court.

Working as a law clerk requires you to possess a thorough understanding of the law and the ability to think analytically. As a law clerk you are required to apply the law to the facts in a particular case without allowing your personal beliefs or feeling to influence your decision. Every judge must possess these skills.

I have also had the unique opportunity of working as a prosecutor, a private defense attorney, and a public defender. Given my history of prosecuting people accused of committing crimes as well as my history of defending the rights of the accused, I am fair and impartial when dealing with parties with differing views and objectives. Throughout my legal career, I have been required to analyze cases from various perspectives. This approach has enabled me to develop the ability to remain open-minded, even-handed, and considerate of the positions and perspectives of the plaintiff and the defendant, regardless of their background, or socioeconomic status. Judges are required to utilize a fair, impartial, and balanced approach when resolving cases. I believe that my legal career has helped me to develop these characteristics.

Furthermore, my position as the Director of the Public Defender's Office had a profound effect on my ability to serve as a member of the judiciary. As the Director of the Public Defender's Office, I had to make difficult decisions, rely on legal precedent, and established policies and procedures, while considering the impact that my decisions would have on others. My position required me to work collectively with employees, organizations, and agencies which typically had opposing goals and objectives. I had to be reasonable, patient, compassionate, and open-minded while managing the office.

Additionally, I have informally mentored attorneys and other professionals by assisting with internships, job placement, and career development. I also assisted with formalizing the internship program in the Public Defender's Office for law students and developing a yearlong Externship Program with the Duquesne University School of Law. I participated in the development of an Expungement Clinic in the Office, in order to assist the clients with removing negative information from their criminal records. These initiatives required me to have the ability to work collaboratively with other stakeholders in the criminal justice system.

Therefore, I believe my ability to recognize the needs of others; work well with others and take the initiative in developing and implementing appropriate programs; all while remaining fair and impartial, makes me an excellent candidate for the judiciary.

33. Why do you wish to become a Justice or Judge? What special strengths do you feel you possess that would particularly well qualify you for the position of Justice or Judge?

I would like to remain a Judge because of my commitment to ensuring that every person has equal access to the courts and the process is fair for all litigants that appear in court, regardless of race, gender, sexual orientation, or socioeconomic status. While assigned to the Family Division, I learned that people frequently fail to exercise their rights due to their lack of knowledge about the court system or their inability to afford an attorney. Similarly, in the Criminal Division I have found that people routinely plead guilty to offenses without fully understanding the nature of the charges, the evidence being offered against them, or the consequences associated with their guilty plea. Although Court can be very intimidating to litigants and witnesses, I believe that we, as Judges, have the obligation to exercise patience and compassion. Judges must take the time to answer questions, whenever possible, and explain the process to the participants so that everyone has the ability to make informed decisions. I believe that this approach increases the likelihood that the parties will have more of an understanding and appreciation for the outcomes. Also, I believe that our Criminal Justice System has failed in its efforts to address crime. Jail and prisons continue to be overcrowded, recidivism rates continue to increase, and the costs associated with our Criminal Justice System continue to increase exponentially. In order to begin the process of reforming our Criminal Justice System, I believe that Judges are duty-bound to utilize a different approach when imposing bail, sentences, and addressing violations of probation. Notwithstanding the fact that change does not occur overnight, I would like to remain a Judge in order to participate in the process of reforming our Courts.

I believe my background, including growing up in a low income community, and working in the social service field, has given me a perspective and understanding of the issues that typically result in members of our communities becoming involved in the court system. My experience working as a prosecutor and a defense attorney has taught me the importance of listening to both sides of the story before making a decision. As the Director of the Public Defender's Office, I had to develop the ability to work well others and work with groups of people with competing goals and objectives. I also had to make informed decisions, while understanding and appreciating the consequences associated with those decisions. Finally, as a Judge assigned to the Family Division and the Criminal Division, I have had to remain fair and impartial while making difficult decisions that impact people's lives. I believe that my work ethic, my temperament, my perspective, and my life experience as well as my work experience have prepared me to serve as a member of the Judiciary.

34. Did you sign the ACBA Judicial Campaign Advertising Guidelines Pledge? (Please return signed pledge with completed questionnaire.)
